

How to use this CD-ROM

All the documents included on this CD-ROM are in the Acrobat file format and can be viewed using Acrobat Reader. No other software is needed.

The start page has links on the left side leading you to the respective pages which will open with a bookmark column on the left, similar to the one you can see now. These bookmarks allow you to navigate back up in the hierarchy.

The documents themselves use two kinds of links: Plain links that are blue and links that are blue and underlined. Plain blue links are links within documents on the CD-ROM, whereas underlined blue links will lead you to the respective Internet-sites or they are e-mail address links.

The papers and posters presented can be accessed via two paths:

1. under sections the authors and their papers are listed according to the program
2. under authors the first authors are listed alphabetically

The CD also offers an index function, which allows you to search the CD-ROM, using your own search words. How to use this function is explained under search.

Certainly, the papers can be printed out. Since the formatting is rather large, it is probably useful to print two pages side by side on one paper, provided your printer offers such a function.

Further information and impressum

Impressum

Editor:

Arbeitsgemeinschaft Tropische und Subtropische Agrarforschung
ATSAF e.V.

Universität Hohenheim (430)
70593 Stuttgart

<http://www.atsaf.de>

Technical Processing:

Dr. Ernst Kürsten

An den Papenstücken 2

D-30455 Hannover

Phone: +49-511-499066

Fax: +49-511-499076

e.kuersten@t-online.de

This CD-ROM was made by Congress-Report GmbH, the specialist for the documentation of congresses on CD-ROM.

Example for a more sophisticated congress-CD-ROM

Hannover
Conference 2000

INTRO ►

Third European Conference on Sustainable Cities & Towns
Hannover, Germany, February, 9-12, 2000

The Millennium Event of the European Sustainable Cities & Towns Campaign

START ►

Organised by:

City of Hannover
Lord Mayor and Chief Executive

Hannover

◀ back to help

Co-organisers:

Council of European Municipalities
and Regions (CEMR)

Eurocities

Healthy Cities Project, World Health Organisation (WHO)

International Council for Local Environmental Initiatives,
European Secretariat (ICLEI)

United Towns Organisation (UTO)

Office of the European Sustainable
Cities & Towns Campaign

In collaboration with:

• European Commission,
Directorate General Environment

- European Commission's Expert Group on the Urban Environment
- City of Aalborg
- City of Lisbon
- City of The Hague
- City of Seville
- City of Sofia
- City of Turku
- International Network for Environmental Management (INEM)
- MED-Cities Network
- Regional Environmental Center for Central and Eastern Europe (REC)
- The Northern Alliance for Sustainability (ANPED)
- Union of the Baltic Cities (UBC)
- International Institute for the Urban Environment (IIUE)
- Sustainable World Foundation (SWF)
- European Climate Alliance
- ICLEI's European Cities for Climate Protection Campaign
- ICLEI's Eco-Procurement Programme
- Karl-Ludwig Schibel, Agency for Practical Utopias

impressum

help

next

The City of Hannover is pleased to present this CD-ROM, which compiles all relevant material produced in connection with the Hannover Conference 2000 including speeches, abstracts, contact details, videos and pictures. It is the sole comprehensive data collection from the conference, enabling you to form an impression of the atmosphere, to browse through all available material, to find the subjects of your special interest by a keyword search, or to collect further information by making use of the various links.
Happy browsing!

◀ back to help

1992: Earth Summit Rio de Janeiro

More than 170 states sign the Agenda 21 document.

1994: Aalborg Conference

The endorsement of the Aalborg Charter signals the launch of the European Sustainable Cities & Towns Campaign.

1995: Rome Conference

The first major gathering of Mediterranean local authorities helps to initiate Local Agenda 21 processes in the South.

1996: Lisbon Conference

Some 1000 participants meet in the capital of Portugal to discuss how to move 'From Charter to Action'.

1998/99: Regional Conferences

in Turku (Finland), Sofia (Bulgaria), Seville (Spain) and The Hague (The Netherlands) assess the regional challenges in achieving local sustainable development.

2000: Hannover Conference

The Millennium event of sustainable cities & towns sets the course for Local Agenda 21 and urban sustainability throughout Europe.

help

◀ back

signatories
HC 2000

signatories
call

full list of Aalborg
signatories

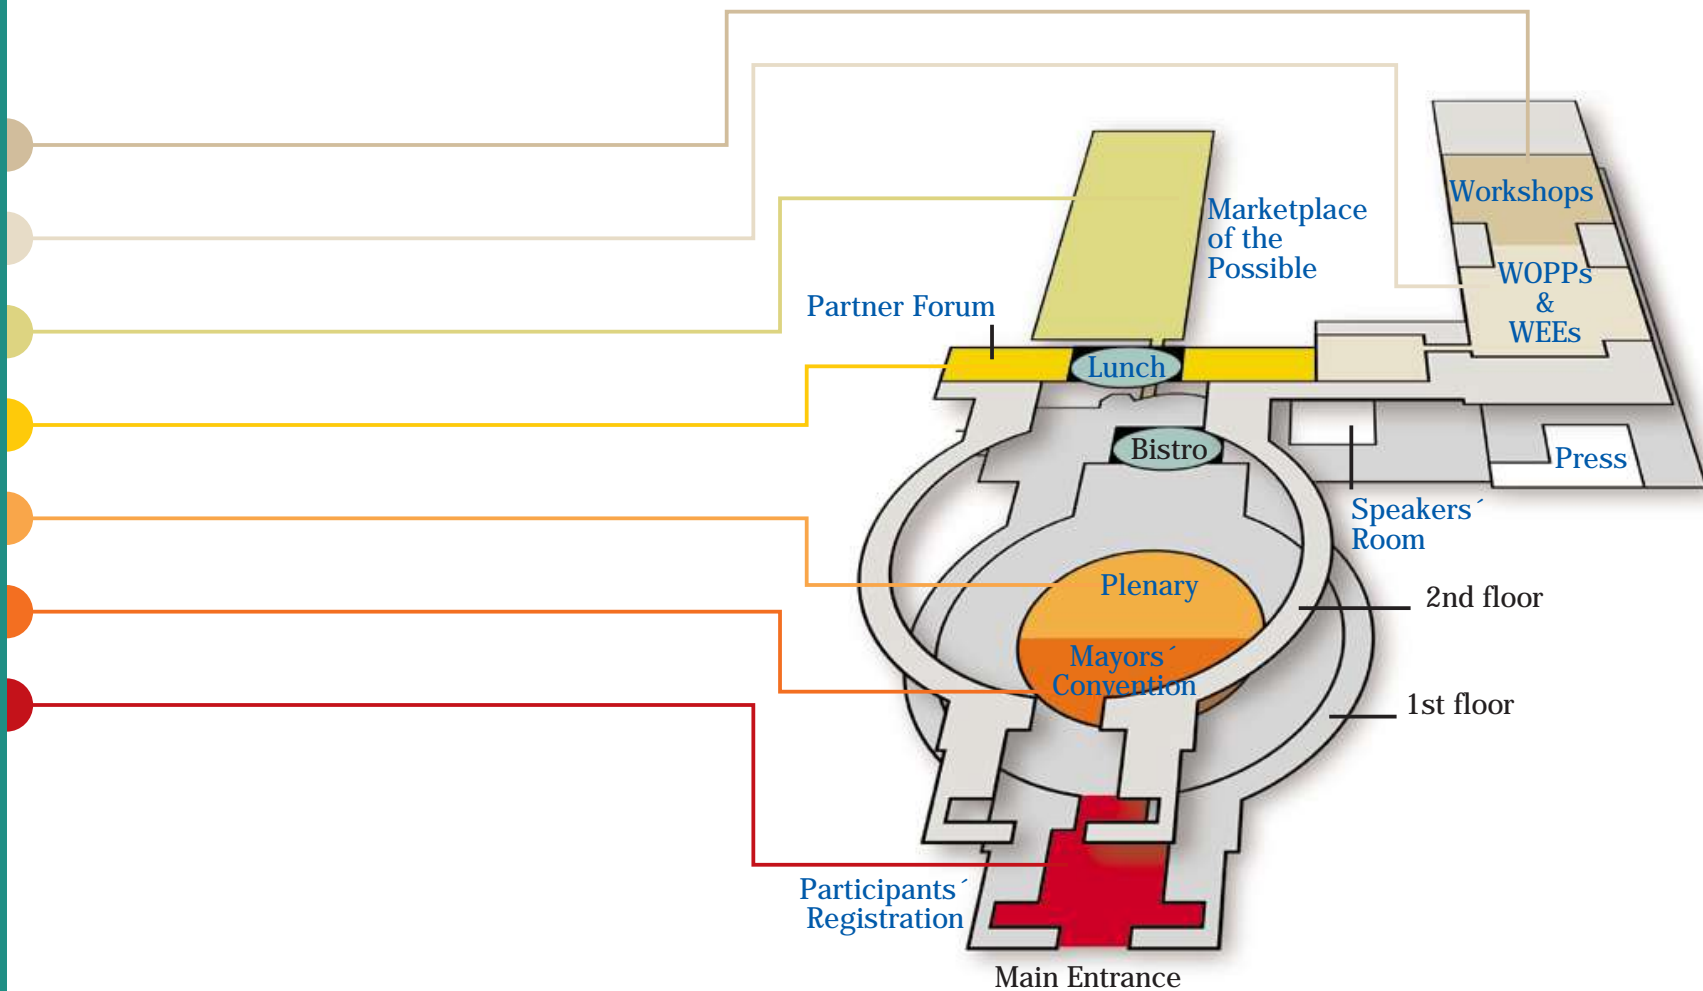

next ▶

overview

Make your choice

- ◀ back to help
- Workshops
- WOPPs & WEEs
- Marketplace
- Partner Forum
- Plenary
- Mayors' Convention
- participants
- fringe events
- full programme
- press
- help

Plan of the Hannover Congress Centrum

◀ back